

Design Evanston Walgreen's Energy Performance

Learn more at a the next tour and presentation.

We toured Walgreen's "net zero energy store" before it's official opening last fall. At the time, Jamie Meyers, Walgreen's Manager of Sustainability, predicted the Evanston store would produce more energy than it consumes.

How is it working today...six months later?

Jamie says, "It is going almost exactly as expected." Join Design Evanston members and guests to tour the second floor mechanical area and hear, first hand, how the landmark store is performing.

6:00pm Monday, April 7, 2014
Walgreen's, 635 Chicago Avenue

The event is free, but please register by April 1
<http://www.designevanston.org/walgreens-energy-performance.html>